

Call for submissions - ITSS Verona Magazine

ITSS Verona is delighted to announce its second Call for submissions for the report section of the new ITSS Verona Magazine. We are searching for in-depth, factual journalistic pieces, where the reporter engages in first-hand experiences to gather information.

Reporters conduct face-to-face interviews with individuals directly involved by the events covered, and/or complete in-depth research on a particular topic. The reporters might have traveled to the locations where these events are unfolding. By being physically present, they can observe and document the situation first-hand, capturing details and nuances that add depth and authenticity to the story.

Report topics:

Human rights violations, Political movements, International crime, Climate change, Immigration
